Dr. Signe Beeke

Name	Email
Phone	Preferred contact
Pet name	Breed
Age	Sex

Fire, Earth, Metal, Water and Wood represent the essential basic material that make up the universe. The theory of Five Elements is based on and is used to describe interactions and relationships that exist in our world. Five Element theory is based on Chinese philosophy and can show us how all aspects of human and animal health and behavior are interconnected with nature and the environment.

As animals are part of the universe, their body structure, temperaments/personalities, positive and negative behaviors, can all be looked at in relation to the Five Elements. In Chinese medicine the Five Elements are used to describe the physiology and pathology of the body, and constitutional tendencies towards the development of specific diseases or illness.

PLEASE CHECK ALL THAT APPLY TO YOUR PET

Easily agitated or irritated

Very Friendly	Careful eater
Loves to be petted	Gobbles food
Likes to talk - vocal	Slow and careful
Hyperactive	Likes to hide
Likes to lie on cold surfaces	Dislikes strangers
Loves everyone	Aggressive toward people
Frequent dreams	Guards house and car
Restless	Loves walks
Dislikes loud noises	Prefers not to walk
Hates being alone	Aggressive towards other dogs
Startles easily	Loves dog parks
Pants a lot	Aloof
Dislikes heat	One person dog
Whines or cries a lot	Obedient
Dominant	Doesn't want to be told what to do
Independent	Mouths or nips objects or people
Confident	Wants to climb on owner
Bossy/Pushy	Nags for attention
Strong - muscular	Wants to constantly touch owner
Alpha animal	Submissive
Stubborn	Likes to bark
Energetic	Likes to play
Laid back - couch potato	Needs a job
Crazy over food	Bites or scratches if over petting
Tends to overweight	Athletic
Nurturing/mothering	Assertive
Worries	Gets on well with other dogs/cats
Нарру	History of Urinary problems
Fearful	Neck and back issues
Shy/sensitive	Good haircoat
Even tempered	Red eyes

Anal sac issues

Tendon/ligament problems Hormone problems Overweight Ear problems Dry flaky skin and haircoat Oily skin and haircoat Itchy Nose problems Coughs alot Weak rear legs Constipation Poor appetite Gum disease History of heart issues History of lung issues History of GIT disease History of kidney issues

